

Newsletter 01

With over 10,000 controllers shipped throughout the world we need to keep our customers informed and up-to-date. With a clear focus on our clients needs TRM International Ltd have improved and added many new features to their new web site.

We have provided more information on our products and services. Not only do we supply off the shelf multi-axis motion controllers that support a wide range of industries, but we have also launched a new product kit for the paper industry called ProCut by ICS. why not visit the guillotine control section to find out more.

We have included more information on each product for example our motor and encoder section has links to technical information.

Our website supports a number of new features these include the following:-

- News Flashes - latest news updates.

- News Letters - Monthly information about new developments and product information.
- Recent Questions- Searchable technical area.
- Extended Product Range - Larger motors and encoders range added.
- OEM & Distributors - We have very competitive pricing structure and would encourage OEM's and distributors to contact us for a quote.

We are developing new and innovative products and also work with OEM's to develop new products. Our website will be able to showcase our new products and we will keep you up-to-date with new product releases.

If you would like to give feedback about this site or make any recommendation's on how we can improve our site then why not email us.